..... City Notes

The Youth Center gymnasium and meeting room have been freshly painted this week and paint in the entrance lobby and control office touched up.

The city employee who was stationed as a noon crossing guard at Springhill Lake elementary school has been removed, since his function has been taken over by the school safety patrol.

Following the passing of a new ordinance at the Feb. 19 council meeting, the city crew will install stop signs on each of the Lakeside cul-de-sacs as they approach Lakeside. The crew will also put up "No Parking" signs in the city where curbs are already painted yellow.

A revised set of plans for the Municipal Services Building, incorporating several changes recommended by the city officials, has now been received. City Manager James K. Giese estimates that advertising for construction bids on the building may begin next week.

Several councilmen and their wives, the city manager, and the city solicitor attended a meeting in Annapolis on Feb. 20 sponsored by the Congress of Cities, a subsidiary of the Maryland Municipal League. Attending the meeting as guests of the Congress were members of the state legislature, who had been invited to discuss the current legislative program.

The city has a heavier investment in the Youth Center's ceramics program than the average citizen might guess. This week 250 lbs. of clay were delivered for class use, bringing the total weight of clay used in the program to 1500 lbs.

CIVIC ORCHESTRA CONCERT

The Prince Georges Civic Orchestra invites everyone to attend its Anniversary Concert and reception at the Northwestern High School Auditorium, Sunday, Feb. 25 at 3:30 p.m. Soloists Patricia Boyd, mezzo soprano and Mary Belli, pianist will highlight selections by Gluck, Mahler, Dukas and others. The orchestra's past soloists and scholarship winners will also be presented to the audience.

Senior Citizens Will Get Tax Exemptions

County Treasurer Charles E. Callow reminded all senior citizens who are home owners that requests for property tax exemptions should be filed by Mar. 1, 1968.

Home owners who are (or will be) 65 years of age on or before July 1, 1968 and who have a gross income of $5,000 per year or less may be eligible.

Notices have been mailed to those home owners who received exemptions on last year's tax bills. Other County senior citizens who may be eligible can obtain application forms and information from the Treasurer's office at both the Marlboro Court House and the County Service Building in Hyattsville.

The City of Greenbelt also offers a similar tax exemption to those persons who qualify for the County exemption. In order to obtain the City exemption, homeowners are required to furnish evidence of having received the County tax exemption on or before the payment of their City taxes or before taxes become delinquent. G.H.I. residents should consult the G.H.I. offices in order to obtain both City and County tax credits.

Construction work on the lake path moves further along each week. The path has now been graveled to the point where the ravine between Lakeview Circle and Maplewood Ct. cuts down to the lake. On this completed portion the city crew spread 100 pounds of crushed bluestone as surface material. Stumps have been removed from the entire pathway, though some fallen trees have yet to be cut up and removed from the 300-foot stretch, from the ravine to the point at the end of Maplewood Ct., which yet remains to be graded and surfaced. In addition, the Public Works Dept. plans to construct a culvert over the ravine.

The end of the lake path nearest Braden Field also received attention. The Braden Field entrance was improved for vehicle access and a low retaining wall built to support a sharply cut bank at the paved ford of the stream that runs behind the tennis courts.

As soon as the weather becomes somewhat warmer, the Public Works Dept. will cut through and pave access paths to the lake pathway from Pinecrest and Maplewood Cts. and between 38 and 40 Lakeside Dr.

The city crew also carried on a general clean-up program last week, both around the road to the landfill and around the approach areas of the underpasses at the Center and Gardenway. Because of the possible fire hazard, the city has also been making special efforts—even when this entails overtime work—to bury all refuse at the landfill completely every night.

March 10 is Library Ground-Breaking Date

The official ground breaking ceremony for Greenbelt's new library will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, March 10, at the library site southwest of Center School. It will be followed by a coffee-reception in the municipal building.

This decision was reached following a discussion between the Board of Prince George's Memorial Library and representatives of the Greenbelt Library Association, at the former's monthly meeting that took place February 14 in the regional library in Hyattsville. It is planned that the ceremony will be relatively short; a bigger celebration is contemplated for the official opening of the new library, which is expected to take place in the spring of 1969.

The ground breaking will, presumably, feature the traditional silver-plated shovel, and various library, county and city personalities will speak briefly. The coffee-and-cake reception will provide a further opportunity to meet the various guests present. All Greenbelt residents are cordially invited.

Co-op Nursery School Application Night

The Greenbelt Co-operative Nursery School will hold its annual application night on Monday, March 11, from 8 to 9:30 p.m. at the school. The school is a state accredited, non-profit cooperative and relies on each parent-member's participation as a classroom aide to the teacher on a rotating schedule. Two and a half hour sessions are held daily.

The school is located at Hillside and Crescent Rds. in Greenbelt.

Applications will be available to parents of 3- and 4-year olds. Parent-members of the co-op will be present to discuss the school and to answer questions. Interested parents may pick up an information sheet at Twin Pines Savings & Loan.

News Review Files Libel Case Appeal

The Greenbelt News Review this week appealed the $17,500 judgment awarded local developer Charles S. Bresler against the newspaper. The libel case, which was decided by a Prince Georges circuit court jury early last month, will now go to Maryland's highest court, the Court of Appeals.

The News Review board of directors, in making this announcement, said that the case involves a basic constitutional question which merits review at the highest court levels, including the U.S. Supreme Court is necessary. At issue the board said, is the freedom of the press and the right of the community to be kept fully informed of what is going on. Specifically involved is the extent to which a newspaper is protected by the Constitution in reporting comments and opinions by citizens at open city council meetings regarding public dealings by a public figure.

The Greenbelt Freedom of the Press Committee estimates that about $10,000 will be needed to cover the cost of carrying the appeal to the higher courts, and has approved several plans for raising the funds. A gala dance has been scheduled for Saturday evening, May 11, at the Greenbelt Armory. Further details on this affair and other fund-raising projects will be forthcoming in future weeks.

Council Refers Life Guard, Pool Table Questions To PRAB; Okays Beer License

by Elaine Skolnik

As a result of last Monday's city council meeting, the Park and Recreation Advisory Board (PRAB) has two more problems to tackle. One is a request for waiving the life guard requirement in connection with the boat concession at Greenbet Lake. The other is a determination as to the location of pool tables for the city's youth.

City council turned both matters over to PRAB after an extensive discussion. The request for waiving the life guard requirement came from the SCH Corporation, which operates the boat concession. The city's contract with the SCH corporation provides that a person who holds a Senior Red Cross Life saving certificate shall be on duty at all times when boats are being rented. Th SCH corporation has found it very difficult to comply with that requirement. City manager Giese said that SCH has been very cooperative in abiding by all other requirements of the contract, especially those dealing with safety measures. City Solicitor Emmett Nanna, however, feared that the granting of the request would place the city in a precarious liability situation.

The problem of locating pool tables was brought to council's attention by Arthur Castaldi, president of the Greenbelt Youth Council, and William Barbour, youth advisor. They said the young people want the tables but that finding where to put them is the $64 question.

Several locations are being considered, but each has its drawbacks. These include: (1) under the rear of the swimming pool (which would require considerable capital outlay for renovation); (2) in the Youth Center lounge (where the Recreation Director plans to locate various activities); and (3) in the Youth Center multi-purpose room (which might necessitate giving up some other programs). Other suggestions included the former bowling alley site under the Co-op store and the Lion's Den, but rental fees and the question of providing adequate supervision are a problem in these sites.

Beer License

The council supported 4 to 1 the request for an on-sale (Class D) beer license for a new "family style" pizza restaurant at Beltway Plaza Shopping Center. The petition will be heard by the liquor board on March 24. Councilman Dick Pilski objected on the grounds that local citizens were not given an opportunity to voice their opinions on the issue, since the item was not on the published agenda. Edward Beenick, manager, said that the restaurant, which will seat 160, will open whether or not the license is approved.

The council turned down a request to combine registration for city elections with a registration for the coming special general election, set for Saturday, March 2, at Springhill Lake. A city registration had already been scheduled on Tuesday, March 5, in connection with the Springhill Lake PTA meeting. City Clerk Nita Maschauer cited as an additional reason that March 2 was the date of the city's annual banquet, which she chairs. Councilman Francis White and Gerald Gough supported both dates, while councilman Bill Hoff reminded citizens that the city offices are open for registration from Monday to Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

WARNING TO HOME OWNERS

City officials have issued a warning to area residents that they should not permit delivery of stone or other types of heavy construction materials requiring loaded trucks to drive across sidewalks or paved driveways. Two separate cases have come to the attention of the city recently in which sidewalks had been broken in this way, and in one of these cases the driveway as well.

If the truck must carry a load across sidewalks, city officials suggest the walk should first be protected with heavy planking.

Responsibility for replacing such broken sidewalks rests with the resident on whose property the breakage occurred, and not with the city.

The council finished action on a number of items (1) It approved stop signs at Legion Drive entering Lakecrest Drive, Lakeside Drive entering Lakecrest Drive, and Westway entering Lakeside Drive. (2) It accepted into the city road system portions of Springhill Lane and Breezewood Drive, after agreeing to waive a sidewalk in front of the commercial property on Springhill Lane. (3) It approved the sum of $325 for the purchase of a small salt spreader unit. (4) It approved an amendment to the traffic ordinance that would prohibit vehicles in designated fire lanes.

State Legislation

Proposed State legislation took up considerable time. Among the bills discussed by council was one establishing a department of urban affairs (which was supported), one limiting the State police when acting within a city's limits (which was not supported) and one which would establish a seven member commission to review volunteer fire department budgets (action deferred).

Council heard a suggestion from Barbour that recommendations on State bills not be made when such bills are first introduced. In particular, he singled out the legislature's conditional zoning bill, which he understood from reading the News Review had been endorsed by council. Mayor Smith and Gough explained that the council endorsed the principle of conditional zoning, and not the specific bill.

The Council of Metropolitan Governments has approved the city's prospective purchase of 2.8 acres of parkland on parcel 15 near Greenbelt Lake . . . City solicitor Nanna is working on the creation of a special taxing district consisting of commercial properties adjacent to the mall to finance part of the cost of cleaning and renovating the mall . . . Nanna is also seeing what can be done to expedite the codification of the ordinances.

Speaking Sternly . . . by David Stern

To The Editor:

When I first read in your newspaper the allegation concerning the - eh - matrimonial liaison between myself and my esteemed next-door neighbor Sonia Garin, I was rather shocked. What added to the shock, indeed, was the fact that it was my first wife Audrey who spotted the sentence in question before I did (and if any reader has missed it, let him look it up in the candidates' biographies listed in last week's Twin Pines ad).

So, as I said, my first reaction was one of shock. Mrs. Garin's, I should add here, was to come over to our home and demand half my paycheck. My second thought was to sue the newspaper for all it's worth, little as that is, for printing a defamatory, false and malicious statement that depicted me as a bigamist of questionable morals. I knew that in this small town, where gossip spreads as fast as spilled coffee on a clean tablecloth, I would become a marked man.

In a way, indeed I have.

"So you've got yourself two wives," said the gas-station attendant as I drove up the next morning for a fill-up. "Gee whiz - that's what one calls a man! How did you manage to get away with it for so long?"

At work, the boss immediately called me into his office. He closed the door behind us, then took a step back and measured me with his looks, up and down and once over again, shaking his head slowly all that time. "Would you have ever believed it?" he mused. "Still water runneth deep, eh? I better take little guys like you more seriously from now on."

"Give my regards to numbers one and two," he said when I turned to leave. "By the way, are there any more?"

Dear editor, this is a fair sample of the way it has been ever since. As soon as my reputation as a bigamist has been established, I have become a minor hero in the community. The checkout man in the Co-op admired my gut and made a mistake in my favor when adding up the bill. Several male residents (names withheld to protect the innocent) openly admitted that they wished they had the courage to do what I did. Even my first wife has become more docile and understanding. "Now I know why you are so tired when you come home from work," she says.

So I guess I won't sue you after all. Instead, I am enclosing a dollar for your own use - and please, if you get another misprint of this kind, would you leave it as it is? After all, mistakes will occur, even in this the best of all Greenbelt papers.

Yours,
David

Bands Dazzle In Armory Concert

Everyone loves a brass band. The gliter of trombones, the oompah of tubas and the CRASH! of cymbals have a place in American tradition no less secure than those of apple pie, drum majorettes and Coca Cola.

The combined Rockville-Greenbelt band contributed to this grand tradition with its latest performance, given in the Greenbelt Armory, Monday, February 19. It was enjoyed by all present - except, perhaps, one very young lady of 3 or 4, who clamped her hands tightly over her ears during the entire performance. This, too, could be well understood, for the combined strength of the orchestra - about 75 players, split equally between the two bands - created such a great surge of sound, that the armory walls shook and even the sound of fans and the yelling of noisy kids were completely drowned out.

The briskly paced program included marches by Sousa, Fillmore and Anderson, tunes from Rodgers and Hammerstein and the "Poet and Peasant" overture by Von Suppe. The first half of the performance as well as the final number were conducted by Greenbelt's Howard Carle, while the rest was conducted by Frank Troy of Rockville.

A concert with an identical program was held by the combined bands in Rockville the preceding evening. At least one more joint performance will be held on the lakeside bandstand this coming summer. In addition, the Greenbelt band plans a series of performances of its own, the first of which is expected to take place in about six weeks.

BOYS! BOYS! BOYS!

If you are between the ages of 8 through 12 and have an interest in baseball, then we are interested in you! Come on down to the Greenbelt Youth Center this Saturday morning, February 24. Coaches and helpers are desperately needed in the Little League. If you are a resident of Greenbelt and enjoy working with boys, contact Little League President, Ray Leber, at 474-4269 or write Greenbelt Little League, Box 174, Greenbelt.

Pleasurable Evening

To The Editor:

Greenbelt residents who were not at the Armory on Monday evening, February 19, missed a very pleasurable evening of good music presented by the Combined Greenbelt - Rockville Concert Bands. Between the beginning "Star Spangled Banner" number and the ending "Stars and Stripes March," Conductors Carle and Troy included a wide variety of marches, popular music and more serious pieces to fill out an evening of pleasant listening.

Over sixty talented musicians contributed their time to bring this program to Greenbelt. The long and loud ovations by an enthusiastic audience expressed the feeling that there should be repeat performances of these bands at the Greenbelt Lake Bandstand in the coming summer months.

Our deepest thanks to the Greenbelt and Rockville Concert Bands, to the Greenbelt Recreation Department, and to the Armory Officials for bringing this program to Greenbelt.

Congratulations to principal Alan I. Chotiner of High Point Senior High School, who received the degree of Doctor of Education on January 31 from George Washington University. Dr. Chotiner, High Point principal since 1954, received his B.A. from Pennsylvania State University and his Ed.M. from the University of Pittsburgh. His doctoral dissertation was entitled "Data Processing in the Secondary Schools of the Suburban Washington Metropolitan Area." The Chotiner family, former residents of Greenbelt, now reside in College Park Estates.

Michael Ellerlin, 54 Lakeside, was the Grand Prize Award Winner and first place victor in the Medical Science division at High Point's Annual Science Fair. His project, "Chalk Up Flesh for Memory," will be entered in the area science fair. According to the High Point Beacon, Michael, a junior, conducted a test of "66 students in which he wrote nonsense consonants on the board in different colored chalk. Flesh-colored chalk on a black chalkboard proved best for memory." Congratulations, Michael, and also plaudits to Nancy Weyel, a junior, 2-F Plateau, who took second place in the Earth and Astronomical Science category. (Please call if any other Greenbelt award winners were not recognized.)

It's a boy for Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Saum, 209 Lakeside. Kristopher was born January 20, weighing 7 lbs. 5 oz. He joins a brother

Kevin, age 3 1/2.

High Point's debate team were named champions in the Wheaton High School Invitational Tournament. This is the first time the team has ever won an Invitational Tournament.

A feature article in Goddard's publication of February 5 highlighted "Our Girl Friday," Elizabeth A. "Betty" Bender, who lives with her husband, Jimmy, at 6000 Breezewood Drive. Mrs. Bender came to Goddard on May 3, 1965, and according to her boss, Danny A. Dalton, Head of the Digital Data Systems Branch, she is an "excellent secretary" with "an inherent capability to respond with speed and ease to the technical language and 'realtime engineering' environment present in our branch."

Thomas F. Redd, 7741 Lakecrest, has been promoted to sales engineer in the Marketing Department of the Washington Gas Light Company. Redd is currently vice-president of the Georgetown Jaycees.

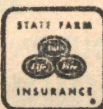

Hope that the Rev. Perry Miller, 308 W. Lafayette Ave., Baltimore, 21217, will soon be feeling better.

There will be a 20-year reunion of the Greenbelt High School class of 1948. The probable date for the reunion will be June 29. Members of the class are particularly interested in contacting alumnae who have moved out of the area. For further information please call 868-2241.

Clifford Hanna, aged 11, of 102 Greenhill Rd., represented Pack 746 recently when he presented Congressman Brozman from Colorado with a Scout emblem at his office in the Longworth Building. Congressman Brozman is keenly interested in scouting, having a son of his own who is a Boy Scout, and was very appreciative of the emblem which represents the aims of the Boy Scouts of America.

Recreation Review

by Recreation Staff

Teen Club Chatter - The Greenbelt Teen Club will hold a "turn-a-bout" dance featuring The Lancers this Saturday night from 8 to 11 at the Greenbelt Youth Center. There will be a dance contest with $cash$ prizes awarded. Last week's cash prizes went to Isetta Faber and Tom Cameron.

Teen Club members will be admitted free. COMING - March 2, The Knights and the Counts. Children's Oil Painting - A new 5-week session of Children's oil painting instruction will begin March 2, at the Youth Center. Classes are two hours in length. Registration is limited, so be sure to sign up at the Recreation Department. A registration fee is required before the class begins.

Beginner Judo - Starting the evening of February 29, at 5:30 p.m., a new session of beginner judo will start at the Center School. Contact the Recreation Department or black belt Dan Villarial at Center School Thursday evening.

Adult Ceramics - There are still a few openings left in the Thursday night ceramics class. For further information call the Recreation Department.

Adult Arts and Crafts - Classes are now forming for the morning arts and crafts class. Projects such as the making of candle holders, candles, topiary trees, and brandy snifters covered with colored cut glass will be taught. There are only a few openings so call right away for information concerning registration.

Men's Slow Pitch Softball - Attention all men interested in slow-pitch softball. Start getting your teams together. A meeting will be held in the Greenbelt Youth Center at the end of March to organize the league for 1968. The winner and runner-up of the league will be able to compete at the sectional tournament to be held at Clinton Regional Park. The sectional champions will represent Prince George's County in a regional tournament at Cabin John.

A.A.U. Judo Tournament - As mentioned in last week's Recreation Review, three area boys representing Greenbelt, competed in the Metro-A.A.U. judo tournaments. This was the first competition for most of the boys, however, our team fought well. Fred Villarial brought home a bronze medal. Congratulations, Greenbelt Judo Club. Greenbelt Chucks - There has been a change in meeting times for the boys Saturday gymnasium program. Boys in grades 3 - 5 should come to the Greenbelt Youth Center from 9 - 11 a.m. Grades 6 and 7 will participate from 11 - 1 p.m. All boys who are interested in playing various games and sports (volleyball, kickball, basketball, etc.), are welcomed.

Sports Club Smoker To Honor The Whips

The Greenbelt Sports Club plans to honor The Whips—the Washington, D.C. Soccer Team, at the next Sports Club Smoker, scheduled for Thursday evening, February 29, at 8 p.m., in the Greenbelt American Legion Home.

On hand will be Owner Earl Foreman, and General Manager Jerry Cooper. Charlie Brothman, Public Relations man for the Whips, will serve as master of ceremonies and show Whip films.

The public is invited. For details, call Club President Donald R. King at 345-8122.

Three Greenbelt Men Finish Marathon Race

On February 18 three Greenbelt men finished the Washington Marathon of 26 miles, 385 yards, held on the roads near Beltsville by the Beltsville Jaycees. Out of a field of 45, only 20 finished because of cold and winds. The race was won by Lou Castagnola, one of the hopes for the Olympic Marathon team, who has run many times in Greenbelt. Castagnola's time was 2 hours, 31 minutes and 11 seconds. Hugh Jascourt of Greenbelt was tenth in 3:10:40; Martin Greenbaum of the University of Maryland 14th in 3:20:01, finishing his second marathon, and his brother Milton, a student at High Point, 20th in his first marathon. It is most unusual to have two presons from the same family complete a marathon. Runners from Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, New Jersey, and Florida competed. Thirty-one runners were in the 2-mile Run For Your Life Race.

Greenbelt will have its monthly Jog Along around the Lake starting at the peninsula at 10:30 Saturday, Feb. 24. It is held the last Saturday of each month at the runners' own pace. Last month Nelson Oertel set the men's record of 10 minutes and Lain Oertel (10) the girl's record of 14:43.
